The beauty and sleek elegance of seamless look offers aesthetics, and hygiene to any kitchen design.

The present invention is directed to a system comprising a rimless stainless steel sink structured and disposed to be undermounted to a solid countertop, such as granite, quartz, or marble, wherein an upper interface between the stainless steel sink and the solid countertop comprises an upper seal which prevents water, bacteria or debris from entering between the rimless upper edge of the stainless steel sink and the top surface of the solid countertop. The sink is undermounted to the countertop with high strength two-part epoxy adhesives.

Our new PATENT PENDING seamless undermount stainless steel sink installation system is called “TopZero”. TopZero edge technology brings flawless, seamless appearance against almost any solid surface material without the challenges of complex fabrication techniques.

THE PERFECT EDGE HAS FINALLY BEEN CREATED™

Undermount sinks are preferred from aesthetic, hygienic and practical points of view. Even with the undermount sink, you've still got that joint between the countertop and the underside. That joint is sealed to the countertop with silicone, creating a bead that's tough to keep clean. With all the moisture around the sink area, this bead can promote bacteria growth and the eventual degradation of the actual silicone.
